

I-295 Malcolm X Interchange

Local Hiring & Contracting Goals

Fort Myer Construction Corporation, the contractor for this project, is committed to meeting the I-295 Malcolm X Interchange project's goals by creating training opportunities offered to DC residents through the On-The-Job Training Program (OJT).

DBE Program

The DBE Program helps minorities, as well as those socially and economically disadvantaged, enter the highway construction and design industry. Companies interested in joining DBE undergo a formal introduction and prequalification process before bidding.

On-the-Job Training

The I-295/Malcolm X Interchange Project has On-the-Job Training (OJT) opportunities for design and engineering staff, contractor staff positions, and various trades. In addition, there are full-time employment opportunities open for application.

Construction Management Training Program

The Construction Management Training Program (CMT) is an opportunity for DC residents to receive classroom instruction, onsite training, and construction industry related certifications during an 8- to 9- week period. After successful completion of the program, students to apply for employment in the construction industry as members of the permanent workforce.
